A Poem for Today

THOMPSON OF ANGEL'S
By Bert Harte

It is the story of Thompson of Thompson, the hero of Angel's.
Precisely drunk was Thompson, but always polite to the stranger.
Light and free was the touch of Thompson upon his revolver.
Great the mortality incident on that lightning and freedom.

Yet not happy or gay was Thompson, the hero of Angel's.
Fierce upon himself in accents of eaglet and sorrow.
"Why do I make the graves of the friends youth who in folly thoughtlessly put my revolver, forgetting its lightning and freedom?"

"Why do I say that walks down the margin dark his left eye?
The undertaker smile and the expanse of anionous matter Lies on his chest and goes? I come and crumple for attention?
Simple am I in my ways, are they for this lightning of freedom?"

So spoke that poetic man—this Thompson, the hero of Angel's.
Fiercely angry to himself as he strode through the deserted street.
"Why, oh, why?" mused the slave in the dark eye depth for reasoning.
"Why, indeed?" whispered the madman that bent 'neath his feet, now silent.

Present indeed was that man that dawned 'old' within the Angel's.
When in their madman's prime was gathered the pride of the band.
"Look, look, look," said the man, and the undertaker's light foot
Rattled as they went. "Well, yes, you can give us our regular foot."

Suddenly as the gray hawk swooped down on the heron, affecting Wings, peeringly picking their ears, the fierce police are gathered,
So in that festive barroom dropped Thompson, the hero of Angel's.
Groping his weapon drunk with his prettiness lightning and freedom.

Never did he speak directing himself of his guests.
The wear of the day of the pay for the transient host.
Tripped a single step, and down in the expanse of "clashing
"Oo, behold in him a crowd of Jack of the mountain!"

Then rose a little man—no man with fierce and age.
"Look, look, look," said the man, and the undertaker's light foot
Rattled as they went. "Well, yes, you can give us our regular foot."

Never again was he again directing himself of his guests.
The wear of the day of the pay for the transient host.
Tripped a single step, and down in the expanse of "clashing
"Oo, behold in him a crowd of Jack of the mountain!"

Never again was he again directing himself of his guests.
The wear of the day of the pay for the transient host.

A Poem for Today

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

By Clement Clarke Moore

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house,
That a creature was stirring, and even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas would soon be there.

The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar plums danced in their heads;
And mamma in her 'kitchen, and I in my room,
Had just settled our supper for a long winter's noon.

'Twas on that night, when all through the house,
That a creature was stirring, and even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas would soon be there.

The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar plums danced in their heads;

A Poem for Today

THOMPSON OF ANGEL'S
By Bret Harte

Tis the story of Thompson—of Thompson, the hero of Angel's. Frequently drunk was Thompson, but always polite to the stranger; Light and free was the touch of Thompson upon his revolver; Great the mortality incident on that lightness and freedom.

Yet not happy or gay was Thompson, the hero of Angel's; Often spoke to himself in accents of anguish and sorrow: "Why do I make the graves of the frivolous youth who in folly Thoughtlessly passing revolver, forgetting its lightness and freedom?"

"Why in my daily walks does the surgeon drop his left eyelid. The undertaker smile and the sculptor of gravestone marbles Lean on his chisel and gaze? I care not o'ermuch for attention; Simple am I in my ways, save for this lightness of freedom."

So spake that pensive man—this Thompson, the hero of Angel's; Bitterly smiled to himself as he strode through the chaparral musing "Why, oh, why?" echoed the pines in the dark olive depth far resounding "Why, indeed?" whispered the sagebrush that bent 'neath his feet, non elastic.

Pleasant indeed was that morn that dawned o'er the barroom at Angel's. Where in their manhood's prime was gathered the pride of the hamlet. Six "took sugar in their," and nine to the barkeeper lightly Smiled as they said, "Well, Jim, you can give us our regular fusel."

Suddenly as the gray hawk swoops down on the barnyard, alighting Where, pensively picking their corn, the favorite pullets are gathered, So in that festive barroom dropped Thompson, the hero of Angel's, Grasping his weapon dread with his pristine lightness and freedom.

Never a word he spoke; divesting himself of his garments, Danced the war dance of the playful yet truculent Modor, Uttered a single whoop, and then in the accents of challenge Spake, "Oh, behold in me a Crested Jay Hawk of the mountain!"

Then rose a pallid man—a man sick with fever and ague; Small was he, and his step was tremulous, weak and uncertain; Slowly a Derringer drew and covered the person of Thompson; Said in his feeblest pipe, "I'm a Baldheaded Snipe of the Valley."

As on its native plains the kangaroo, startled by hunters, Leaps with successive bounds and hurries away to the thickets, So leaped the Crested Hawk and, quietly hopping behind him, Itan and occasionally shot that Baldheaded Snipe of the Valley.

Vain at the festive bar still lingered the people of Angel's, Hearing afar in the woods the potent pop of the pistol; Never again returned the Crested Hawk of the mountains; Never again was seen the Baldheaded Snipe of the Valley.

Yet in the hamlet of Angel's, when truculent speeches are uttered, When bloodshed and life alone will atone for some trifling misstatement, Maidens and men in their prime recall the last hero of Angel's, Think of and vainly regret the Baldheaded Snipe of the Valley!

PURE FOOD EXPOSITION.

Opened in Jacksonville Last Night Under Favorable Auspices.—Gov. Broward Delivers Address.

The doors of the Pure Food Exposition opened in Jacksonville last evening at 7 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock the exercises began.

Hon. George M. Nolan, Mayor of Jacksonville, made the opening address, and several other speeches were made by officers of the exposition. Gov. Napoleon B. Broward delivered a fine address on the resources of Florida.

Wednesday night, Manager Buckley, of the exposition, tendered a reception to the committees on opening ceremonies and the representatives of the press, which proved a most enjoyable affair. A vaudeville performance was given in the northeast corner of the building.

The exposition will continue until the 20th inst.

Tampa day is January 17th, and it is thought that hundreds of Tampanites will visit the exposition.

Everglade Coming.

Henry Gardiner, assistant engineer of the houseboat Everglade, is in Daytona for a few days. The Everglade, which spent a portion of last season here, is in St. Augustine and will arrive in Daytona about the 18th inst., in time for Col. R. M. Thompson, the owner, to see the automobile races. He is a Wall Street broker and has a number of friends in this city.

The Everglade is 118 feet long and is a modern houseboat in every respect.

School Board.

The Board of Public Instruction of Volusia County met early in the week, at DeLand, with a full Board present.

The principal business was to grant to the City Council of Seabreeze, the permission to erect a building for a City Hall, on the northeast corner of the school lot, said building to be removed on thirty days notice from the Board.

The treasurer reported funds on hand amounting to $2,500.

A Poem for Today

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS
By Clement Clarke Moore

TWAS the night before Christmas, when all through the house,
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar plums danced in their heads;
And mamma in her kerchief, and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap—
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new fallen snow,
Gave a luster of midday to objects below;
When, what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Donner and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
Now dash away, dash away, dash away all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle mount to the sky,
So up to the house-top the couriers they flew,
With the sleigh full of toys—and St. Nicholas too.
And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head and was turning around Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
His eyes, how they twinkled! his dimples, how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry;
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow.
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it circled his head like a wreath.
He had a broad face and a little round belly
That shook when he laughed like a bowl full of jelly.
He was chubby and plump—a right jolly old elf;
And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work
And filled all the stockings, then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim ere he drove out of sight,
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night!"

A Kind Voice.
There is no power of love so hard to get and to keep as a kind voice. A kind hand is deaf and dumb. It may be rough in flesh and blood, yet do the work of a soft heart and do it with a soft touch. But there is no one thing that love so much needs as a sweet voice to tell what it means and feels, and it is hard to get and keep it in the right tone. One must start in youth and be on the watch night and day, at work and at play, to get and keep a voice that shall speak at all times the thoughts of a kind heart. It is often in youth that one gets a voice or a tone that is sharp and it sticks to him through life and stirs up ill will and grief and falls like a drop of gall on the sweets of home. Watch it day by day as a pearl of great price, for it will be worth more to you in days to come than the best pearl hid in the seas. A kind voice is to the heart what light is to the eye. It is a light that slugs as well as shines.—Elihu Burritt.

A Fall Stop.
A returned traveler who spent half of his holiday in a tour of Ireland brought back a sample of the happy-go-lucky wit of the Irish "Jarvey" or driver. In a breakneck race down a hill he suddenly realized that the spirited little Irish mare was running away.
"Pull her up!" he shouted excitedly.
"Hold tight, your honor," returned the Jarvey coolly.
"Pull her up!" again commanded the traveler, making a grab for the reins.
"For your life don't touch the reins," the Jarvey answered without tightening his grip. "Sure, they're as rotten as pears."
The traveler made ready to jump, but the Jarvey laid a soothing hand on his shoulder.
"Sit easy," he said reassuringly. "I'll turn her into the river at the bridge below here. Sure, that'll stop her."

The Weather.

For East Florida: Fair tonight and Saturday. Light frost in North portion.

W. J. Bethel & Company's store is nearing completion. They expect to have their stock of goods in by the 15th.

McCoy Brothers report that they will carry a large crowd on their Miami excursion. They will leave here on the morning of the 9th.

Business has not been very brisk today, due to the inclement weather. The indications point that the weather will clear up with a cold spell.

Stole Money.

A sneak thief entered the home of Mayor Herriek, at Seabreeze, yesterday, and stole $20 in bills and $10 in silver. There is no clue to the thieves.

Chinese Porcelain.

Chinamen have been exporting the porcelain to the west for over a thousand years and probably before the Middle Ages could make nothing like porcelain and therefore regarded it as a magical product endowed with magical powers. It was said, for instance, that a porcelain cup would break if poison were poured into it. Travelers declared that porcelain was composed of various substances, which after being tempered, were hidden in the ground for ages before being fit for use. Even so erudite a man as Sir Thomas Browne, writing in the late seventeenth century, was "not thoroughly resolved, concerning porcelain or china dishes, that according to common belief they are made of earth." The secret of the true Chinese porcelain was first discovered in Europe a generation later by the German chemist Bottger, the inventor of what is now known as Dresden china.

Reason For Anxiety.

A large pawnbroker's shop was on fire, and the firemen were busy trying to prevent the conflagration spreading. Among the large crowd of onlookers was one woman who was evidently in an agony of excitement. Every now and again she would urge the firemen to more strenuous efforts, and as the flames leaped higher her grief became violent.

"What's wrong, missus?" said a sympathetic bystander. "Don't you upset yourself. There ain't no one in there. What's the row?"
"Row?" exclaimed the lady through her tears. "There ain't no row at all at present, but there will be if they don't get that fire out soon. My old man's Sunday suit is up at that spot, and he don't know it!"—London Advertiser.

Words That Have No Rhyme.

There are about sixty words in English that have no rhyme. As given in "The Rhymers' Lexicon," by Andrew Lang, they are as follows: Alth, ally, amongst, average, bilge, bourn, breadth, brusque, bulb, calf, couch, culm, cusp, depth, doth, eighth, fifth, film, forge, forth, fugue, gulf, hump, lounge, mouth, nuth, oblige, of, pear, pint, porch, pork, poultry, prestige, pias, recumb, sauce, scarce, scarf, sixth, spoilt, swish, sylph, tenth, torsk, twelfth, unplugged, volt, warmth, wasp, wharves, width, with, wolf, wolves. A critic adds that it is not clear why Mr. Lang places "mouth" in this list. It seems to rhyme with "south."

The Mosquito Plant.

In northern Nigeria there is a tree, called in scientific language Celtis virens, which mosquitoes cannot tolerate. Two or three plants kept in every room and placed along the veranda are enough to shut out trespassing insects. A mosquito gently inclosed in a leaf of the plant will lose consciousness in a few seconds. The bruised leaf has a scent not unlike that of wild thyme and eucalyptus. The natives of northern Nigeria prefer an infusion of its leaves to quinine in malarial fever both for themselves and their children.

TERSELY TOLD LOCAL ITEMS...

Will H. Stevens, took a tumble day before yesterday, at the corner of Volusia Avenue and Beach Street, and was thrown heavily from the wheel to the ground. Mr. Stevens was run into by a lady on a bicycle. His wheel was badly demolished by the collision.

The Christmas exercises of the Congregational Sunday School, were held at the Congregational Church, Tuesday evening, Dec. 26th, and in spite of the very rainy weather, were well attended.
The program was good and the children all acquitted themselves with credit to those who had the entertainment in charge. Mrs. C. A. Wright, of Billerica, Mass., rendered a vocal solo, "Jesus the Light of the World," which was much enjoyed. Santa Claus distributed the stockings which were well filled with candies.

Resumes Monday.

School will be resumed next Monday, January 8th, and once more will the scholars return to their duties after pending a very enjoyable holiday vacation.

Seating room in the school is at a premium and more seats are an absolute necessity.

The scholars when they return to their duties on Monday will be fresh from the pleasures of a most delightful rest and it is expected that the balance of the year will be very beneficial.

Port Orange.

Port Orange, Jan. 3.—Captain Ellenwood was in town Christmas Day, making calls.

Miss Patillo and Miss Nellie Patillo, arrived from Osteen, Tuesday of last week, and their father, Hon. A. T. Patillo, joined them Wednesday. Unfortunately they could only remain until Thursday, when they returned home greatly to the regret of their friends here.

Miss Milburn and Miss May went up to Seabreeze, Thursday, to visit friends and remain until Saturday.

Captain Ellenwood and Mrs. Carter drove down from Seabreeze Saturday and made calls.

There were two excursions on the river Friday, one to Daytona and one to the Inlet.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Sim Jackson, Saturday.

F. Doudenville is building a neat fence around his houses.

The popular landlord and landlady of the Port Orange House invited a few of their young friends to a watch-night party. They spent a very pleasant evening singing and telling ghost stories.
Dainty refreshments were served.

The supper New Years night was one of the most successful that we have had.
There were over 150 persons present,
and they all seemed to enjoy themselves.
The supper tables, and the young ladies attending them, looked beautiful.

Chauncey Vass returned to Rollins

Press Writers.

The leading New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago daily papers will send a special staff of writers and photographers to the Ormond-Daytona races. The automobile press will also send their heaviest guns to this meet and as the calibre of the contestants in the races this month are heavier than that of previous meets, the eyes of all the world will be focused on this place for some time to come.

The Associated Press will, as usual, have a strong staff of writers on the scene. Other press associations will have special men present and the leading expert photographers will be on hand to catch the two-mile-a-minute machines as they fly past with almost the speed of lightning—so fast that manufacturers of photographic material have to construct special cameras for the work in Florida.

Notice.

A union temperance meeting, in which the Law and Order League, and W. C.
T. U. will take part, will be held next Sunday noon at Epworth Hall. A full attendance of members is desired. 3-4t

...Wanted...

1,000 Reporters!

The Daily News wants 1,000 reporters. No, this is not a joke. We really want them, and we won't be happy until we get them.

In other words, The Daily News wants every person, male and female, 18 years of age and over, in Daytona and its environs, to get on the staff of the paper. The Daily News wants every scrap of local news that is worth printing to appear in its columns. The best way to get it is to ask the people who know about the news to send it to the paper.

So if you know of anything that has happened, or is about to happen, tell the City Editor about it or write to him.

Let every man and woman, youth and maid in and around Daytona become a reporter The Daily News.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

DAYTONA AND ITS ATTRACTIONS.

DAYTONA is situated upon the west bank of the Halifax River at its farthest extreme and midway between its source at Bulow Bay and its outlet at Mosquito Inlet. It is in latitude 28, seventy-four miles from St. Augustine and one mile from the Atlantic Ocean, and is acknowledged to be without a rival for beauty among the villages of the South. Its site is upon what is known as high hammock land that was crowned by nature with a most royal growth of majestic forest trees, and among these trees is the town of today, with its beautiful cottages and well-graded walks and streets. The result is that all along the wide avenues that intersect the town are lordly live and water oaks and hickories, many of them draped with graceful festoons of the gray Spanish moss, that overarch the street and walks, and among these are interspersed tall tropical palm-trees, glossy-leaved magnolias, fragrant bay and coral-berried holly, and many other varieties, while in many places the wild grape, the trumpet vine and the ampelopsis climb and cling about the branches forming shady bowers and adding grace and beauty.

The town lies parallel with the Halifax River, and extends for nearly two miles along the shore. The river is the delight of the angler as the yachtsman and forms one of the town's greatest attractions.

The main avenues that run parallel with or intersect the river are all 100 feet wide, except Beach street which is about sixty-five feet, but has a half-mile of open, beautiful water abutting upon its eastern side, where the salt waves ebb and flow and along and across which comes the cooling, invigorating and health-giving breezes from off the wide Atlantic, which temper and render the Halifax climate one of the most perfect in the world. Daytona has many miles of well-graded, et, marled and shelled roads and streets, rendering it the

and added to these, but a mile away, are thirty miles of smooth, hard beach, that affords an unrivalled course for long-distance cycling and driving or automobile racing. No town of equal size, North or South, numbers so many wheelmen, and cycling is a favorite pastime with the tourists summer and winter.

The Beautiful Cottages that have been erected during the past years and are being built are rendering Daytona as famous for its fine homes as for its beautiful river, trees and avenues, and they are adding yearly to its attractions.

Not the least of these attractions to those securing homes in the South, and ranking second only to healthfulness and perfection of climate, is the fact that its population is chiefly composed of cultivated and intelligent people, accustomed to the refinements of home and social life. Added to these features are good churches, good public and private schools, stores, hotels, laundry, meat markets, novelty works, an opera house, electric lights for street and house illumination, a good telephone system, ice factory, Lily Water Works, and hot and cold baths, etc., and everything else can be procured that is necessary to make life comfortable. An important feature in the healthfulness of this town is the

Water Supply
which is derived from numerous flowing wells, of which there are probably 300 in the corporate limits. This flow is secured by boring wells to the depth of from 80 to 120 feet, passing through several strata of rock, and this depth assures purity from all surface contamination. The water is slightly impregnated with magnesia and iron, and holds sulphur in the shape of gas, which soon passes away.

The Population of Daytona proper is about 1,800. Added to this is a suburban population on main shore and peninsula of about 1,000 at Kingston, Blake, Old Seabreeze or Goodall, Seabreeze and Silver Beach, which are properly a part of the town and population.

Daytona Beach
lies one mile east of the town. It is approached by three good bridges over the river and well-graded avenues, and is the principal summer resort south of St. Augustine. It has more tourists during the summer than all other places south of that city combined, and is also becoming a favorite winter resort. The beach is wide, firm and smooth, by many considered the finest in the world, and the surf bathing is safe and excellent summer and winter. People who have tried Northern and Western summer resorts declare that there are none so perfect as comfort as Daytona beach.

Automobile Race Meet.
The Florida East Coast Automobile Association conducts an annual race meet on the beach, which has now a universal reputation as the greatest automobile race course in the world. The Daytona-Ormond Beach is hard as macadam, and an ideal stretch of thirty or more miles without a break makes it the natural racing ground for America.

At low tide the beach is bare for 300 feet and neither carriage wheel, bicycle or pedestrian can make a hardly visible imprint on the smooth and well-packed sand. It is no uncommon sight to see salt-rigged bicycles speeding with the velocity of the wind before a stiff breeze along the smooth beach, thus affording the most exhilarating sport known to man. Besides these, miles of hard-shelled, palm-fringed boulevards bring the forces of the wheel and vehicles into direct touch with the mainland over the broad bridges which span the splendid Halifax River.

The beach from the sandy bluffs to the lowest point at oblique, measures about 500 feet, and the average depth of the surf measures about two feet. A continuous gentle swell rolls in from the ocean from one to two feet in depth under normal conditions, making the beach an attractive and also a safe place for surf-bathing. Here the infant as well as the gray-haired veteran of many summers, can safely enjoy the luxury of a sea bath throughout the larger part of the year, while the strong and expert swimmer, an venture out further to test his strength and skill in battling with the inexhaustible powers of the mighty ocean.

The Peninsula
lying between river and ocean is one half mile wide, and is being rapidly improved, and there are many fine cottages and several good hotels, an opera house, two ocean piers, beach aviation and a large casino.

A Remarkable Feature of Daytona has been the yearly improvement in the style and value of the buildings that are being erected for homes. Men of capital of the North and West have become awakened to its advantages for winter residences, and valuable lots are being purchased and costly homes, beautiful in design and finish, are being erected, and beautiful homes, the abodes of wealth and culture are multiplying.

Seabreeze (City Beautiful) and Goodall are settlements on the Ocean side of the peninsula across the Halifax River from Daytona.

At the foot of Ocean Boulevard, Seabreeze, a pier reaches 600 feet across the beach into the swelling surf of the ocean. This pier is a favorite resort of those who delight in the sport of fishing. The surf were abundant in trout, pompano, yellowtail, cavalle, whiting, drum, deep-sea and many other varieties of edible fish. During the fall season the famous sea bass affords royal sport, and it has been no uncommon occurrence to land a thousand pounds of this gamey fish in an afternoon, individuals of them ranging from fifteen to thirty-five pounds in weight. Not only does the ocean offer this splendid sport but the Halifax River, only half a mile back of the ocean, is equally famous for its fine fishing, and the varieties that abound in the ocean are present in the river.

Hunting and fishing good. Experienced guides and dogs may be had at reasonable prices.

Waters at the Equator.
The plentiful marine growths, both animal and vegetable, of the warm waters near the equator attach themselves to a ship's bottom in the course of a few weeks, and the ship loses both speed and dirigibility. When a British ship on the West India station was broken up a few years ago more than eighty tons of barnacles were removed from her bottom, while an American frigate of only 800 tons register had thirty cart loads of barnacles scraped from her bottom after a stay of but eight months in the warm latitudes.

A Strange Recipe For Acting.
Perhaps the most striking instance of voluntary hallucination is that recorded by an intimate friend of the actor Talma. Langlois states that the great tragedian told him that when over he entered on the stage he was accustomed by force of will to make his brilliant audience disappear and to substitute for them a house full of skeletons. The emotion which these ghastly creatures of his own imagination excited served, he declared, to give additional force to his own performances.

Practical Talk.

A young Beach Street merchant, who has been in the city but a few months, but who has a keen interest in the success of the town, and who is ever alert to improve the place as a business center, in speaking last night with a Daily News representative said: "I attended the Board of Trade meeting on Wednesday afternoon, and I am glad to know that the matter of issuing booklets met with opposition. This town has plenty of advertising, and the great race meet, which is of yearly occurrence is the best kind of advertising. When I was in New York in the fall some one would ask where I was from, and then the talk of Daytona would follow. If we are going to do any advertising at all, why not take a page in one of the leading magazines. It will cost something, but I am sure the results will be beneficial." The course of conversation then turned to good roads, and he said that the best move for the town would be to build an automobile road to DeLand at the earliest practicable date. The young merchant favored assessing all property four additional mills, and that he would not hesitate in the least in paying his proportion.

Our Women's Shoes

Madam, we ask that you take a look at our new Shoes. You can't help but notice how different they are from the kind of Shoes most stores sell. They have a handsome

"Made for You Alone Appearance."

We claim our Women's Shoes to be the perfection of Shoe making and we assume all risks.

Patent Kid, Patent Calf, Vici and Gun Metal Calf are some of the good leathers. Straight or sewing lasts—medium or narrow toes, Cuban or regular heels—lace, button or Blucher. Our talk may be similar to that of other Shoe stores, but you'll see at once that our Shoes are different.
